

TIPS, TRICKS, AND TOYS FOR THE CAMP KITCHEN

Thursday, January 29, 2009

Buker Community Center, 22 Armory Street, Augusta

Potluck Dinner at 6 pm, Presentation at 7 pm

"Just as siting your tent is

"location, location, location," preparing backcountry meals is

"ingredients, ingredients, ingredients..."

Author Dorcas Miller

Who says wilderness food can't be fun?! Join backcountry chef Dorcas Miller on Thursday, January 29, 2009 for a night in the camp kitchen where she'll share her favorite recipes, demonstrate gear for making trailside goodies, and pass along hard-earned culinary wisdom. Dorcas has been cooking on trail for almost forty years, including experiences as a registered Maine Guide, Outward Bound instructor, canoe trip leader, and whitewater guide. She has packed out food for dozens of trips (including one that was seven weeks long), published articles in Backpacker magazine, served as the trail chef for www.gorp.com, and wrote Backcountry Cooking and More Backcountry Cooking (available for sale at this event). This event is free and open to the public.